PUBLIC INTERNATIONAL LAW

September 2019

Grotius Chambers features a unique team of experienced lawyers and experts who can provide a range of services to international actors, including helping them to understand and apply international law, rules, policies and customs, and representing them before international courts and tribunals.

We provide such advice and representation in the following areas of public international law:

- State-to-State Litigation before the International Court of Justice.
- Investment Arbitration.
- Human Rights and Humanitarian Law.
- International Organisations Law.
- International Administrative Law.
- Law of Democracy.
- International Governance.

Public international law is one of the most symbiotic areas of law. It combines both national interests and international governance. This is why our lawyers and experts are not simply excellent international public lawyers with a strong knowledge of the relevant law, but also have outstanding awareness of the political and international context in which advice and representation play out.

We are keen to develop strategies with our clients, determined to find with them the best options and solutions that are balanced: we strive not just the short-term victory but also for long-term sustainable solutions. Thus, we also offer special services for the implementation phase of a decision or an agreement.

At Grotius Chambers, we pride ourselves on being real team players and our lawyers and network's partners combine experience, innovation and efficiency to work with you to further your case. If you need more than just legal experts to help you, that is not a problem.

Grotius Chambers can also assemble multi-disciplinary teams that can cover all areas of expertise required for your situation. Grotius Chambers is fortunate to be able to draw on an extended network that we can make available to you.

We do not believe in a "one-size-fits-all" approach. Rather, Grotius Chambers offers first class bespoke services that respond to your business needs. We can pool resources and draw on leading independent legal practitioners world-wide to offer those services seamlessly.

We provide all our services in a fully transparent way, with clear and regular updates allowing our clients to stay in control. Grotius Chambers firmly believes in responsible and efficient costs and we will measure them at a fair value for our clients' benefits..
